General:

Note: Scouts may need to carry their gear from the car to the campsite.

Duffel bag: One medium-sized duffel (or large backpack) you can carry on your own. Soft-sided bags fit vehicles better than suitcases or bins. Avoid extra loose bags.

Tent, poles, stakes & footprint: Tent, poles, stakes, and ground cloth/footprint. A tent can be supplied by the Troop as well. Tent partners can split the tent parts to share the carry.

Sleeping Gear:

Sleeping bag: Rated for the expected conditions.

Extra blanket: Based on the weather. A fleece blanket packs smaller and lighter than a thick comforter.

Eating Gear:

Note: Name plainly marked and reusable.

Bowl or plate: Durable and reusable.

Clothing:

Hiking shoes or boots: Sturdy and broken-in.

Underwear (2 sets): Two sets.

Socks (2+ pairs, plus dry pair): At least two pairs, plus one additional dry pair in a sealed bag.

Shorts (hot weather): Needed only in hot weather.

T-shirts (1–2): One or two, appropriate for the forecast. Unless it's hot, it's a good idea if one of them is long-sleeved.

Long or zip-off pants: More if wet weather is expected.

Warm knit hat: Appropriate for the forecasted overnight temperature.

Extra sneakers or boots: Especially needed if wet weather is expected.

Sleepwear: Pajamas, or a T-shirt and shorts for sleeping only.

Other:

Flashlight/headlamp: With extra batteries.

Scout handbook: If needed for advancement.

Medications: Required medications in original labeled containers, submitted or carried in accordance with Troop procedures.

Toilet paper: Subject to what is available at the campsite.

Dirty clothes bag: Preferably cloth or mesh.
